Is baby wearing safe?

When done properly, carrying a baby in a soft baby carrier can be safer than carrying a baby in your arms. Your carrier doesn't have muscles that get tired, and your carrier doesn't have arms that reflexively reach out to balance you or catch you when you fall. But, as with anything concerning babies, good safety practices are of utmost importance. This brochure has many safety tips, but no set of guidelines can anticipate every circumstance. You are responsible for your child's safety as well as your own.

A few absolute rules to follow:

1. Make sure your baby can breathe. Baby carriers allow parents to be hands-free to do other things, but you must always remain active in caring for your child. No baby carrier can ensure that your baby always has an open airway; that's your job.
  - a. Never allow a baby to be carried, held, or placed in such a way that his chin is curled against his chest. This rule applies to babies being held in arms, in baby carriers, in infant car seats, or in any other kind of seat or situation. This position can restrict the baby's ability to breathe. Newborns lack the muscle control to open their airways. They need good back support in carriers so that they don't slump into the chin-to-chest position.
  - b. Never allow a baby's head and face to be covered with fabric. Covering a baby's head and face can cause her to "rebreathe" the same air, which is a dangerous situation. Also, covering her head and face keeps you from being able to check on her. Always make sure your baby has plenty of airflow. Check on her frequently.
2. Never jog, run, jump on a trampoline, or do any other activity that subjects your baby to similar shaking or bouncing motion. This motion can do damage to the baby's neck, spine and/or brain.
3. Never use a baby carrier when riding in a car. Soft baby carriers provide none of the protection that car seats provide.
4. Use only carriers that are appropriate for your baby's age and weight.

WARNINGS:

Failure to follow all warnings and instructions may result in a serious injury or death. For your child's safety, read the labels and the owner's manual before using the product. Read and carefully follow all the instructions provided with this product before placing an infant in the carrier. Please retain instruction information for future reference. Failure to use the product according to instructions can result in injury or death.

Use exclusively with infants 3.6 kgs to 9 kgs.

Do not use the carrier in the forward-facing position until the infant is able to fully support his or her own head and neck.

Always fit the carrier on your shoulders before sitting the baby in it.

It is recommended that you place the infant in the carrier while sitting.

After seating the child in the infant carrier, adjust leg openings to smallest possible size.

Small children can fall through a leg opening. Follow instructions for use.

Only use the front cuddle pocket to support the baby. Do not use it to store objects.

ADDITIONAL WARNINGS:

Before use, remove and dispose of plastic bags and other packaging materials, and keep the out of reach of babies and children.

Use the carrier only when standing or walking.

Your balance might be adversely affected by your movement and that of the child.

Take care when bending or leaning forward. Ensure that you are holding the child safely in your arms.

This carrier is not suitable for use during sporting activities.

Do not leave your baby unattended inside the carrier if you are not carrying it on your shoulders.
 Do not use the carrier to hold your baby in a vehicle, in place of a car seat.
 Do not seat more than one infant at a time in the carrier.
 The baby carrier must only be worn by an adult.
 Do not use the carrier to transport a child on your back.
 Do not use the carrier if any parts are damaged, torn, or missing.
 Do not attach to the carrier with any parts not supplied by R FOR RABBIT.
 Before use, check that straps are fitted and adjusted correctly, and the buckles are safely fastened into position.
 Always ensure that child's nose and mouth are unobstructed when in carrier, to allow for proper breathing.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS:

To keep baby carrier looking new longer, we recommend that regular care be limited to spot cleaning with a damp cloth. Machine-wash only if necessary.
 Machine-wash separately in cold water, gentle cycle. Drip dry only. No bleach or use of fabric softener. Do not use dryer. Do not iron.

Warning!

If baby falls asleep, please turn baby's face to the side so as to provide an unobstructed source of air.

There should always be room between baby's face and your chest to provide a clear source of air..

Taking baby out:

Baby face in and face out:

First - have a second person hold your baby at the back.
Second - release the chest buckle and then slide the both shoulder straps.

(Warning: Please make sure the second person is holding the baby and the carrier at this time!)

Third - Put baby with the carrier on a soft surface and then unfasten all buckles and take the baby out.

IMPORTANT:

Adjust the carrier until baby is high on your chest. You should be able to easily kiss the top of your baby's head.

A smaller baby's arm should be positioned through the arm holes (See illustration). A bigger baby's arms will rest comfortably over the sides of the head support.
